

Answer the following questions.

1. This is a two-part question. Answer each part.
 - a. Define and describe UNITARY and FEDERAL systems of government.
Give at least TWO examples of each form of government
 - b. What are the advantages and disadvantages of both.

2. There are generally two forms of government in the modern world: Presidential and Parliamentary. This is a THREE part question. Answer each part separately.
 - a. How are these two forms of government structurally different from each other? Give at least TWO examples of each.
 - b. What is the relationship between the executive and the legislative branches of government in the two systems.
 - c. What are advantages and disadvantages of both.

3. Define and describe democracy. What are the political, social, cultural and economic requirements for a political system to become a successful democracy?

4. This is a two-part question. Answer each part.
 - a. Describe in detail authoritarian and totalitarian systems. In what ways, are they similar and different from each other?
 - b. What political, social, and economic conditions make them possible and why do they generally fail?

INSTRUCTIONS: Use the internet. There several websites to give you enough information to answer these questions. Make sure that you answer each part of the question for full credit.